- (b)(2) related solely to the internal personnel rules and practices of an agency;
- (b)(3) specifically exempted from disclosure by statute (other than section 552b of this title), provided that such statute (A) requires that the matters be withheld from the public in such a manner as to leave no discretion on issue, or (B) establishes particular criteria for withholding or refers to particular types of matters to be withheld;
- (b)(4) trade secrets and commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential;
- (b)(5) inter-agency or intra-agency memorandums or letters which would not be available by law to a party other than an agency in litigation with the agency;
- (b)(6) personnel and medical files and similar files the disclosure of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy;
- (b)(7) records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes, but only to the extent that the production of such law enforcement records or information (A) could be reasonably be expected to interfere with enforcement proceedings, (B) would deprive a person of a right to a fair trial or an impartial adjudication, (C) could be reasonably expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy, (D) could reasonably be expected to disclose the identity of confidential source, including a State, local, or foreign agency or authority or any private institution which furnished information on a confidential basis, and, in the case of record or information compiled by a criminal law enforcement authority in the course of a criminal investigation, or by an agency conducting a lawful national security intelligence investigation, information furnished by a confidential source, (E) would disclose techniques and procedures for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions, or would disclose guidelines for law enforcement investigations or prosecutions if such disclosure could reasonably be expected to risk circumvention of the law, or (F) could reasonably be expected to endanger the life or physical safety of any individual;
- (b)(8) contained in or related to examination, operating, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of an agency responsible for the regulation or supervision of financial institutions; or
- (b)(9) geological and geophysical information and data, including maps, concerning wells.

SUBSECTIONS OF TITLE 5, UNITED STATES CODE, SECTION 552a

- (d)(5) information compiled in reasonable anticipation of a civil action proceeding;
- (j)(2) material reporting investigative efforts pertaining to the enforcement of criminal law including efforts to prevent, control, or reduce crime or apprehend criminals;
- (k)(1) information which is currently and properly classified pursuant to an Executive order in the interest of the national defense or foreign policy, for example, information involving intelligence sources or methods;
- (k)(2) investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes, other than criminal, which did not result in loss of a right, benefit or privilege under Federal programs, or which would identify a source who furnished information pursuant to a promise that his/her identity would be held in confidence;
- (k)(3) material maintained in connection with providing protective services to the President of the United States or any other individual pursuant to the authority of Title 18, United States Code, Section 3056;
- (k)(4) required by statute to be maintained and used solely as statistical records;
- (k)(5) investigatory material compiled solely for the purpose of determining suitability, eligibility, or qualifications for Federal civilian employment or for access to classified information, the disclosure of which would reveal the identity of the person who furnished information pursuant to a promise that his/her identity would be held in confidence;
- (k)(6) testing or examination material used to determine individual qualifications for appointment or promotion in Federal Government service the release of which would compromise the testing or examination process;
- (k)(7) material used to determine potential for promotion in the armed services, the disclosure of which would reveal the identity of the person who furnished the material pursuant to a promise that his/her identity would be held in confidence.

advised that the subject had wanted to be appointed as the Christian Science Wartime Minister at Camp Adair, but had not been appointed by the Church board. However, he advised that the subject was acting as the assistant to the Wartime Minister. [] advised that [] was the source of his information concerning the subject and that he had had very little contact with him.

[] is a practitioner of the Christian Science religion. [] stated that subject appeared to be attempting to cause dissension within the church and stated that most of the older people thought he was wonderful. He stated that the subject appeared to be attempting to curry favor with the young people, both civilians and members of the Armed Forces attending the Church.

[] advised that she had no direct knowledge concerning the subject and that her information was all hearsay. She stated that the subject was apparently trying to cause dissension in the Church and that she had heard that the subject had offered [] some Bund literature.

[] advised the writer that the subject had made anti-Jewish statements to her but that she was not able to recall any specific statements. She stated that the subject had discussed the Jewish problem and had stated that the Jewish Internationalists were trying to gain control of the world and were causing the war. She advised that this statement was made early in 1941. [] stated that she believed that the subject was loyal to this country but that he did not like Jews. She advised that the subject had never furnished her with any literature of any sort, but that [] now attending Yale University, having a fellowship in Engineering, had often made anti-Jewish statements stating, "If you read what I have been reading your eyes would be opened."

[] advised that she had discussed the subject and [] with two or three members of the Church and that apparently someone had misunderstood her statement. She stated that the subject had been practicing with [] and that subject and [] were very close friends.

[] was interviewed with negative results.

[] advised that he had been acquainted with the subject for over two years and that he had no reason to believe that he was not a loyal citizen. He stated that the subject was an "intellectual" and often discussed world affairs on a higher plane that the ordinary members of the Church could comprehend.

[redacted] of the Landscape and Architectural Department, Oregon State College, advised the writer that he believed the subject to be a loyal American citizen. He stated that subject had received his Master of Arts degrees in Architecture and in Music at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan, and had been a Christian Scientist for many years.

[redacted] stated that the subject had been an associate professor in Landscape Architecture at Oregon State College, was a highly competent man in his field and very popular with the students. He advised that the subject was very conscientious, both in his work and in his religion. He stated that the subject returned each year to the Mother Church in Boston, Mass., and also took a trip someplace in the United States to observe places of architectural and landscape interest.

[redacted] advised that such trips were the custom of men in his profession. He stated that the subject and four students had taken such a trip in 1940 and that he himself had seen photographs taken on the trip. He advised that many military establishments were visited on the trip with the view towards ascertaining what efforts had been made to landscape the entrances of such establishments.

[redacted] advised that the subject had discussed with him the way in which he could best serve his country. He advised that the subject wanted to be either a Chaplain, a Christian Science practitioner, or to enter the Army. He stated that the subject had a brother in the Navy and another brother in the Army.

From the subject's record at Local Draft Board 1, Benton County, State Bank Building, it was ascertained by the writer that the subject is 38 years of age, being born December 15, 1904 at Ann Arbor, Michigan. Subject in his questionnaire stated that he had a total lack of vision in his right eye and requested a Class 4 classification in view of his practice as a Christian Science practitioner. Subject was ordered to report for a physical examination on November 10, 1942 and was subsequently placed in Class 4-H due to blindness in his right eye and a hernia. Correspondence contained in the subject's file indicated that on June 7, 1941 he took a trip of several weeks duration to Ann Arbor, Michigan and on January 26, 1942 he again visited Ann Arbor, Michigan.

[redacted] Corvallis Credit Bureau, Hout Building, advised that the subject resided at 2912 Orchard Street and had formerly been at 2725 Arnold Way. She advised that the subject was buying the property on which he lived and had been employed by Oregon State College as a Landscape Architect from 1939 to 1941.

The criminal records of the Corvallis Police Department and the Benton County Sheriff's Office were examined by the writer with negative results.

W. DORR LEGG, wa
SECURITY MATTER - G

In view of the fact that no further information has been received indicating that the subject is engaged in any subversive activity, this case is being closed.
